a forum for all
P-NET users and producers, institutes, and other people
interested in the P-NET Fieldbus

The International P-NET User Organization is established by the pioneers in the P-NET Fieldbus area. The organization is not established as an organization of economic benefits.

Name: International P-NET User Organization ApS

Address: P.O.Box 192, DK-8600 Silkeborg, Denmark.

The object of the organization is declared as follows:

- to disseminate global information and knowledge of the P-NET standard and its application.
- to contribute to the determination of technical specifications concerning future development of the P-NET standard.
- to specify conformance test for P-NET products.
- to certify P-NET products based on test reports prepared by independent testing laboratories.
- to list certified P-NET products inclusive of software.
- to contribute to consolidate the confidence in the P-NET products, by trying to prevent non-certified products from using the P-NET Logo.
- to contribute to exchange of information among the members by publishing quarterly News Letters with contributions from the members and information of new P-NET products.
- to contribute to establish local P-NET societies.

The official language in the International P-NET User Organization is English. All publications use English as the principal language, however, a few publications will also be translated into other languages.

The above activities will be financed by collecting a subscription, collecting charges for certification and registration, and by selling the P-NET Standard and other reports, etc.

Companies, institutions, and individual persons can be admitted as member of the organization. Admittance can be defined as end-user or as manufacturer.
